LAUNCH OF THE CALL FOR PAPERS

FOWT, the world's largest event dedicated to floating offshore wind, confirms its 2020 venue and launches its much awaited call for papers.

We are pleased to announce that the next edition will return to Marseille and will be held on April 22th, 23th and 24th, 2020 in the prestigious Palais du Pharo.

As the industry is maturing, the general theme of next year's event will focus on " Floating wind : definitely accelerating, truly global "

This new edition will feature a call for papers. If you want to make a presentation, please refer to the attached document for all necessary information and application guidelines.

The large success of this year's edition, gathering over 810 attendees from 28 different countries, has prompted the organizer to set-up again an international scientific and technical committee whose task is to select the most pertinent presentations as well as round-table compositions and topics.

FOWT's main objective is to continue proposing new, varied and relevant presentations where « best of science » and « best of technology » can be seen and discussed. Such focus is certainly one of the reasons behind FOWT success as internationally recognized speakers shared their experiences as well as vision of challenges in front of an increasingly accurate and expert audience.

The organization committee, made up of the Mediterranean maritime and coastal economy cluster (Pôle Méditerranée), the Marseille Provence Chamber of Commerce and Industry (CCIMP) and the French wind energy association (France Energie Eolienne) are already hard at work to make the 2020 edition an even bigger success.

Deadline for submission: 4th of October 2019

We're waiting your proposals and we wish you a great summer season.

With kind regards

The FOWT's Organization committee
